MORMONS DEDICATE

Temple at Mesa Consecrated

Thousands in Attendance, Including Survivor of Founder's Party

President Grant and Other
Church Dignitaries
Conduct Services

MESA (Ariz.) Oct. 23. (Exclusive) With fervent hymns, three repeated by the packed throng within the great Arizona temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) was dedicated here today. Leading was President Grant, here from Salt Lake City with about seven hundred members of the church administration and it was he who gave the half-hour dedicatory prayer that is to be repeated at each of the other four temples of the church. In his formal address he spoke of Arizona as the only State of the Union in which the Mormon people had not suffered from persecutions. He gave expression of joy that such an enduring monument of the faith should rise within a friendly land.

Other leaders who joined in the services were Anthony W. Ivins, who was a missionary in Arizona before Mesa was founded; Joseph Fielding Smith, president of the Church; Richards, president of the Salt Lake City Temple; George W. McKurkin, president of the California mission; President Kimball, president of the boys' work, and J. W. Lester and John Command of the Mesa presidency.

The temple with its total capacity of 1500 held little more than a tenth of those who came to the structure this morning. The Coast communication reported that the right of entrance within the marble portals, outside stretching far beyond the temple grounds, was a throng of ten thousand, with a number of thousands of automobiles while several thousand more auditors were assembled in the ward chapels, all wearing their caps and gowns and radio loud speakers. According to one of the church authorities, it was the greatest gathering ever known with the exception of the last great meeting of the saints at Nauvoo.

On the walls of the baptistry are depicted in life-sized figures the founding of the Mormon church by Joseph Smith and Oliver Cowdery on the 26th of September, 1830, in the sylvan where Mormon's belief that the Baptist appeared to Joseph Smith.

FIVE ASSEMBLY HALLS

The upper floor of the temple is divided into five assembly halls. In the center of the second floor is the hall of the grand staircase of which is a corridor on the walls of which is depicted the Prophet Smith a short time before his death presenting the book of Mormon to the Indians. From this room the first lecture room opens, the Creation room. On the walls of this F. E. Wilcox, the artist, has represented the creation, beginning with the鸿濛 and ending with the beginning of man.

Leading in dramatic importance was the opening service with the multitude gathered on the west facade of the temple. On the lobby terrace was placed the combined Los Angeles-Bethel band of 500 voices for rendition of a cantata "The Vision" by Stephan. Very touchingly, the story of heavenly visitation was told in the words of Lucia Merton of Los Angeles.

CHURCH PIONEERS PRESENT

California had about 600 representatives here by special trains.

In the Utah delegation was J. H. Young, one of the few survivors of the party that started with Brigham Young.

Another was the widow of William Pulsifer, a member of the Mormon Battalion.

She was accompanied by her son G.

There also was Walter Winch, who helped build Winter Castle at Pipe Springs, north of the Grand Canyon. He is 94 years old.

Mr. John Reid Head, 94 years of age, who came to Northeastern Arizona in 1877. Several of the speakers gave warm praise to the church plan of salvation. Utah and Arizona, while the throngs around the temple bears sculptured panels that commemorate their hardships and devotion.

The attendance has taxed all entertainment facilities of Mesa and a large part of the visitors have been coming from the West Coast.

The great number have come by automobile, even from distant points and a temporary tent city has arisen near the temple. Mesa will remain till there have been administration of ordinances for which demand is said to be more than the temple's capacity for months to come. The service is to be confined to residents of California, Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas and Mexico. None outside the faith may enter the sacred edifice after the dedication.

Load of Cotton Appears on Streets Drawn By Six Oxen

MAGNOLIA (Ark.) Oct. 23. (Exclusive)—A drama of ancient days was enacted here when a load of cotton, drawn by six oxen, appeared on the streets. The team and five bales of cotton were owned by J. H. Freeman & Co., and it took them one day and a part of another to cover a distance that an auto can negotiate in a couple of hours. Both the cotton and the oxen were sold here after arrival, the oxen bringing $35. They will be used for logging operations.

BISHOP'S BIBLE RAP ANSWERED

Question of Evolution Stirs

Substantiation

LONDON, Oct. 23. (AP)—Doubts as to whether the Archbishop of Canterbury would make a public or private reply to the letter addressed to him by the Bishop of Birmingham were solved today when the archbishop communicated to the press a long letter of tacit reproof which he had written to the Bishop of Bristol outlining the views of the churchmen who ignore scientific teachings.

The Bishop of Birmingham, Rt. Rev. Edward White Benson, in a letter to the archbishop, declared that the doctrine of substantiation is untrue, and ranged himself on the side of the Bishop of Bristol.

He returned bearing the distinguished service medal of the United States and the decorations of Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium.

He had been the Eighth Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church of England with headquarters at the Palace of Westminster, London, until his retirement.

He which, it is believed, will stay the ravages of time and catastrophe are the treasures of the temple, a massive baptismal font of bronze and stone borne upon the backs of twenty-four oxen. The interior of the church is filled with the decorations of the church administration and it was he who gave the half-hour dedicatory prayer that is to be repeated at each of the other four temples of the church.

In his formal address he spoke of Arizona as the only State of the Union in which the Mormon people had not suffered from persecutions. He gave expression of joy that such an enduring monument of the faith should rise within a friendly land.

COWBOY, 96 YEARS, GETS FIRST INJURY FALLING OUT OF BED

CHILDRESS (Tex.) Oct. 23. (Exclusive)—For eighty-five years Reese Barton, 97 years of age, the world's oldest active cowboy, has punched longhorns on the plains of West Texas without a mark on his hide to show for it.

"I've broken outlaws and 'bull-dogged' unruly steers without his hair losing its natural part. Only yesterday he roped a calf and flipped him as niftly as a cowboy aged 20 would have done."

But today, Reese met his Waterloo. He fell out of bed and fractured his collarbone.

Should Justice Siddons decide in favor of the government, special oil counsel then will put before the court Sinclair's statement to the committee that he had leased his ranch, the Three Rivers ("N.M.") ranch during the Christmas holidays of 1921 to discuss the lease of Teapot Dome.

Justice W. Littleton, oil counsel for the oil interests, told the court in his opening statement that the visit was for another purpose.

Through L. E. Eddy and Roy W.

employees of the Interior Department the government will adduce more testimony designed to upset the defense that there were no legitimate place for the visit.

The contention of the government is that there were no valid claims for the lease of the Three Rivers, and that Sinclair bought up claims of several oil companies and individuals so that there would be no difficulty in getting the title of the secretively negotiated lease.

The question of whether there was danger of the serious drainage of Teapot Dome, which would affect oil wells also to be acquired later by the government through A. W. Ambrose, a former government employee, and other witnesses.

Street Stage of Jobless Actors

PARIS, Oct. 22. (AP)—Out-of-work theatrical artists in Paris have hit upon a new method of bringing in the few honest souls that they require to sustain life. They have decided to revive a few of the old "thrillers" of decades ago and give them on an improvised stage in one of the public squares. The audience will give what it thinks the tin-cup method.

Three or four melodramas will be given during the winter, and if the plan is successful it will be adopted regularly for the spring and summer months.

Prices to Drop in Tobacco War

LONDON, Oct. 22. (AP)—A gigantic tobacco war between British and American interests, the Sunday Express asserts, is approaching rapidly.

Price-cutting in the leading cigarette brands, the paper adds, may follow, for both sides are determined to fight to a finish.

The struggle is between the Imperial Tobacco Company, with a capital of $60,000,000, and the American Tobacco Company. The American concern charges the British with having violated the territorial agreement.

SHIPPING BOARD SPLIT WIDENSTen-Year Guarantee Demand Causes Rupture*Myers in Favor of Retaining Five-Year Plan*Vote on Question Expected at Meeting Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—A sharp division of opinion among the members of the Shipping Board has developed over a proposal to increase to ten years the guarantee period of operation of vessels purchased from the government. It became known yesterday coincident with a visit by Commissioner Myers to the White House.

Although Mr. Myers declined to say whether he discussed the proposal with the President, he did declare that he is opposed to it.

The question is expected to be taken up and possibly decided at a special meeting of the board Monday.

STAND REVEALED

The proposal has been under discussion for many months with Chairman O'Connor, vice-chairman Plum, and Commissioner Myers determined to support nothing which, in their opinion, will run counter to the public welfare. Commissioners are opponents of the ships owned by the board. They believe that a ten-year guarantee would constitute an obstacle to sale of the vessels.

Concern over the present five-year guarantee is advocated by the chairman, vice-chairman and others on the theory that inasmuch as the government, because of its financial position, cannot in effect cannot give only a coe-year guarantee of service, private interests should not be required to make a guarantee longer than the present five-year period.

The board now requires the purchaser of a vessel or line to pledge to continue the service in effect at the time of purchase for five years.

VOTE TOMORROW

One of the advocates of the present five-year guarantee is the Pacific Coast representative of the Telfer, who represents the Pacific Coast on the board. He said today that the shorter period does not furnish an effective guarantee.

At the meeting Monday both sides are expected to be ready for a vote on a change of policy. The controversy over the question has been so great that the necessity for action on the proposal to sell three lines operating from Pacific ports to the Orient and two American lines operating from New York.

The operators seeking the Pacific lines have indicated a desire to guarantee only five years of service. Final action on the proposal to sell, posted twice last week, will be held over until Monday.

BOARD FAILS TO FIX TERM FOR HARRY NEW

HAN QUENTIN, Oct. 23. (AP)—The State Board of Prison Directors adjourned yesterday without fixing the term which Harry E. New, Jr., of Los Angeles, must serve for second-degree murder. He was sentenced to an additional year for kidnapping.

"There are many ways to call a sovereign when his return is agreed upon," he said. "I will respond at once."

When the defendant objected that in view of his formal renunciation and his present passiveness it is hard to see how he can be recalled, the former Crown Prince smiled and answered:

"I repeat what I have already said, if my country calls me I will respond at once."

Mr. E. Paul Du Pont, society leader of Wilmington, Del., fell from his husband's racing yacht into the waters of the lower Delaware yesterday. An excellent swimmer, Mrs. Du Pont reached shore unharmed.

Plant Erection Now Awaits Orders From Detroit

New Addition Announced for Port's Trade Roster

The Ford Motor Company has received Federal sanction for the construction of its wharves on Cerritos Channel, and the erection of its large assembling and manufacturing plant awaits only orders from Detroit, expected momentarily.

The improvement complements the development of forty acres of the Los Angeles-Long Beach water front, with wharves and a plant some 900 feet long, the cost running into millions of dollars.

Plans call for 602 feet of wharf concrete pilings and concrete wharf extending 1,100 feet into the west side of the dip between the Cerritos and Alamitos channels.

A Bear, a Moose and a Mountain Goat is a fair day's bag for any nimrod; it's a near record for a woman. Here's Mrs. Paul Curtis of New York, with the moose she knocked over in the Canadian Rockies after she had shot the bear and goat earlier in the day. (Herbert photo.)

She Can Handle Her Hands—Meaning Miss Josephine Pitton, 20, of Brooklyn, who won the world's amateur typewriting championship at the recent contest in New York. The talented young lady wrote 117 words a minute for a period of a half hour. (P. & A. photo.)

Twins Were Born Five Days Apart to Mrs. Springer of Spokane, this month. Laurella Springer on right arm of her mother in above photo was born the 9th inst., while Lauretta May did not make her worldly bow until the 14th. Mothers are doing well, thanks.

Undismayed by Prospect of Death on the gallows, Mrs. Catherine Cassier, convicted Illinois murderer, received the news she had been granted a week's reprieve, with a jest on her weight. If sentence is carried out she will be the first woman ever to pay the supreme penalty in that State. (P. & A. photo.)

The Topmost Pinnacle of the Matterhorn, a 14,781-foot globe actually seen at close range by a party of few of the most hardy, is shown above. The peak rises 14,781 feet above sea level and is one of the highest in the Swiss Alps. (Herbert photo.)

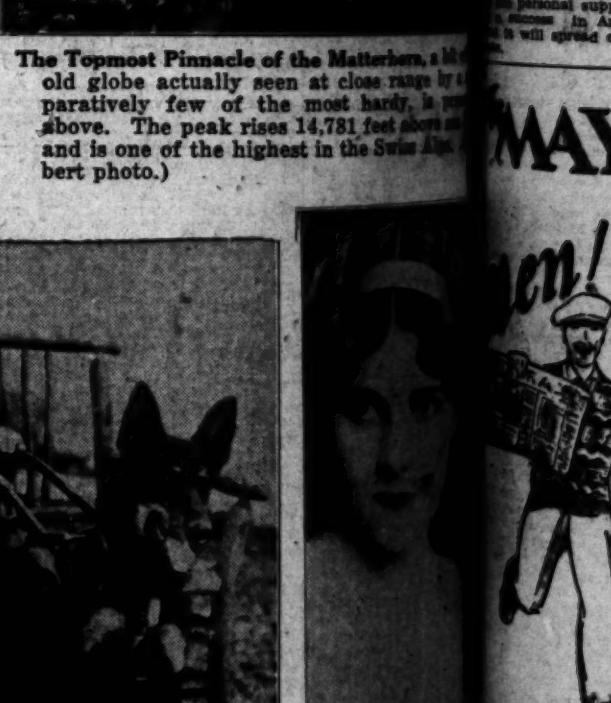

"Doctor Says It Can Come Off Now," "Tiny Tim," pet of the California Clinic for Crippled Children, tells Billy Schick as he removes brace from Billy's leg. The clinic will attempt to raise funds sufficient to carry it through the year at Charity Hi Jinks to be staged at Cinderella Roof the week of the 31st inst.

It Started Out Seriously for Producer, but after Police Chief Castigan had put the "bracelets" on Edwin Carewe, he pinned an ornate badge on the breast of the motion-picture man and pronounced him an honorary captain. And it means something in Culver City—what?

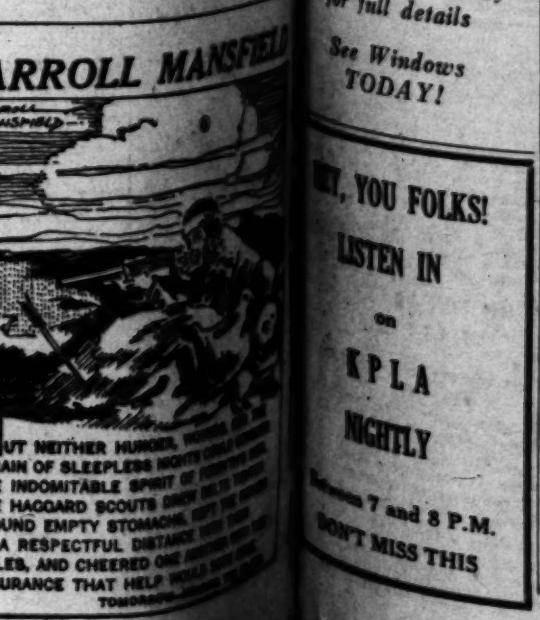

THIS FOURTH DAY OF THE SIEGE OF BEECHER'S ISLAND FOUND FORSYTHE'S MEN FACING A DESPERATE SITUATION. THEY WERE HEMMED IN BY THE HOSTILES, UNABLE TO MOVE FROM THEIR SHALLOW RIFLE PITS WITHOUT DRAWING A SHOT, AND WITH NOTHING TO EAT BUT THE FLESH OF THEIR SLAIN HORSES.

ITHE RED MEN MADE NO FURTHER ATTEMPT TO ATTACK THE LITTLE RING OF SCOUTS ON THE ISLAND, BUT KEPT A VIGILANT WATCH TO SEE THAT NONE ESCAPED. OCCASIONALLY THEY FIRED ON THE DEFENDERS TO SHOW THEM THEY WERE ON THE ALERT.

OUT NEITHER HUNGER, neither strain of sleepless nights nor the indomitable spirit of the HAGGARD SCOUTS DREW THEM AROUND EMPTY STOMACHS. AT A RESPECTFUL DISTANCE, THE WOUNDED SUFFERED SILENT AGONIES FOR LACK OF THE NECESSARY MEDICAL ATTENTION.

REVOLT TURNS

Ellis Island

Into Shambles

NEW YORK Oct. 23. (Exclu)

A revolt, featured by smashed windows and developing into a free-for-all battle, ended quickly and disastrously in the detention pen for criminals ordered deported at Ellis Island today.

After weeks of sullen growing
James Hume and Remley Reid, two Englishmen who had languished four months there, started the outbreak when they were refused medical attention.

"Well, here's the way we'll get attention."

They seized stools and proceeded to smash windows, break furniture to pieces and turn the pens, with twenty-three other deportees in it into a shambles. Michael Marino, a prison guard, leaped into the free-for-all, and other guards helped drive the leaders in a battle royal.
With shattered heads, Hume and Reid were chucked into the padded cell at the island's central station when Louis the lion tamer, a warden himself, was deported years ago.

Ellis Island officials declared Hume and Reid have served prison terms here.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 23. (AP)—Clerical dignitaries, including the Most Reverend John Gardner Murray, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, and many prominent laymen, are expected to attend the third Anglo-Catholic Congress which meets in Albany October 26-27.

This represents an effort by members of the so-called "high church" group to make religion "vital and positive."

A welcome has been extended by Bishop Henry H. Nelson of the Albany diocese, who will be the honorary president, to "religious people of every name and organization."

HORSEMAN ON RECORD TRIP

Arrives From Buenos Aires at Oaxaca, Mexico

Will Continue Journey to Republic's Capital

Proposes to Show Quality of Argentine Equine

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23. (Exclusive)

One can start a controversy with James Felix Tschiffely of Buenos Aires upon the admission of international airplane flights over international boundaries for the time being, but he well knows his equines. He has arrived at Oaxaca, Mexico City bound, according to reports from the Argentine Legation here, which has taken great interest in him since his arrival.

Tschiffely proposes to show the quality of Argentine horseflesh and is still intent upon continuing his journey to the Orient.

He took two horses but one got sick while he was on the trip and he had it shipped by train to this city. It was his father, Dr. Henry Tschiffely, who suggested the trip.

Tschiffely proposes to show the quality of Argentine horseflesh and is still intent upon continuing his journey to the Orient.

"We see it every day, as in advertisements of college clothing and women's fashions, that the influence of the Orient is strong.

"We draw on New England for our literary ideas and standards.

"I do not advocate the influence of the Orient but I hold that the western institutions, especially State-owned educational plants, should receive the conditions imposed by the locality to reflect the influence of basic industries.

"A man going through the University of Washington should be educated to the Orient and we hope to contribute to the movement in that direction by developing appropriate features of our education facilities.

WESTERN CULTURE URGED

University of Washington President Takes Stand on Eastern Traditions

SEATTLE, Oct. 23. (AP)—The time has come for western culture to declare its independence of the influence of eastern traditions, in the opinion of M. Lyle Spencer, newly elected president of the University of Washington.

"Do not claim anything original, and enjoy this country. Examples of this idea are already in progress in the college of forestry and in the college of law, and in the departments of history and English," said Spencer.

"I do not advocate the influence of the Orient but I hold that the western institutions, especially State-owned educational plants, should receive the conditions imposed by the locality to reflect the influence of basic industries.

Railways Aid City to Make Beauty Spot

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 23.—Realization of the desire to provide an appealing first view of Riverside to tourists arriving by train was assured yesterday. The Union Pacific Railroad Company fulfilled its promise to collaborate in the beautification of the block between the Santa Fe and Union Pacific stations, where General Manager F. M. Knobbe of Los Angeles delivered to Meyer L. Hirschfeld and Dewitt V. Hutchings a check for $10,333.33.

Twenty-five percent one-third of the original cost of the plot to the city of Riverside and the Santa Fe, which own the property jointly. The land was bought for the express purpose of creating a fine business until the Union Pacific was induced to co-operate was this vision realized.

Under the agreement between the two railroads and the rail companies, the Union Pacific was to pay the sum of $10,333.33 and the money be divided equally between the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific. The arrangement was to result in giving all three parties an equal share in the property. The rail companies agreed also to send the land to the city after the Union Pacific had paid its share of the purchase price of the plot, under the stipulation that the city supervise the planting of the ground to shrubs and other beautifying trees and plants.

The Old Men's Checker, Domino, Horseshoe Club, which has made its headquarters on the site for several months, have been given another location on Union Street and apparently are well satisfied.

This deep zone is more profitable and productive than most of the new activity. The wells have to go deeper and deeper, but the yields range from 300 to 4500 barrels, which is working well.

ARTESIA (N. M.) Oct. 23. (Exclusive)—New Mexico's largest gasser, the Tex Production Company's Rhodes No. 1, in Southeastern Lee county, Sec. 22, 26-27, will soon be drilled to completion, if present plans of the officials are carried out. A steam engine and boiler have been installed and the well is being set ready for the tools which were blown twenty feet up in the hole and hung there while the last gas sand was struck at 510 feet.

The next well due in the Artesia field is the Lynch No. 1 of the Skelly Oil Company on Sec. 22, 17-21 in Eddy county. Drilling has been suspended to shoot the sand found at 8800 feet, and will give the well a shot as soon as the hole is cleared out.

While the Pecos River test, the Hammond test on Sec. 15, 16-25, continues to look favorable for shallow production. The formation has changed from black shale to brown limestone, the latter showing oil at 1200 feet.

The first oil showing was obtained in this test at 1025 feet. Drillers are holding out for a second oil interval, including 1100 feet, and expect to exploit these with exclusive right to exploit as drilling progresses below 1225 feet.

An important wildcat test has been made in North Cimarron, in the Oliva basin on Sec. 7, 5-29. Drilling is progressing below 200 feet.

In North Lee county, the Bordeas-Jennings Number No. 1 on Sec. 27, 17-21, has been drilled to a depth of 2000 feet.

The Empire Gas and Fuel Company on Sec. 22, 17-27, in Eddy county, has started drilling No. 4-A.

The new well near the Robinson

No. 1 gasser of the Texas Production Company, are making good drilling progress. The Pueblo Company, operating on Sec. 17-21, 26-27, has drilled to 2625 feet. A slight oil showing was obtained in this test from 2585 to 2685 feet.

The Texas Company has a well, which is carrying down a larger hole, in drilling again below 2500 feet, after setting 2500 feet of ten-inch casing.

Other leases from E. H. Smith, Jr. and Mabel Lovelace Smith and Jesse Anderson to I. Sulcliffe of Los Angeles, cover 320 acres in the same district.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. S. H. Keoughan, President of the Company, from his letter regarding this issue:

Continental Oil Company (Maine) resulted from the consolidation in 1924 of the Mutual Oil Company and the Continental Oil Company of Colorado. The latter company had been operating in the Rocky Mountain States as a distributor of petroleum products for over forty years and was a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey at the time of the dissolution in 1911.

The company owns or controls oil and gas leases covering approximately 30,000 acres of proven oil lands on which there are situated over 1,700 wells with many locations yet to be drilled. The present daily gross crude oil production exceeds 40,000 barrels and the net production exceeds 30,000 barrels. Price 99 and Interest, to yield 5½%

We offer these Debentures, if, or and when issued to and received by us, subject to the approval by counsel of all legal proceedings in connection therewith. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about November 7, 1927, in the form of temporary debentures or interim certificates.

LOST GOLDFIELD ORE VEINS LURE

Three Syndicates Conducting Separate Drives

Angeleno Group to Prospect Clermont-Mohawk

Boardman Company Exploring Another District

GOLDFIELD (Calif.) Oct. 23. (Exclusive)—The Big Blue mine, two miles up Kern River from Kernville, from which $8,000,000 in gold was extracted during forty years of operations prior to 1897 and which has been idle since then, although the extent of its wealth has never been taken over by Charles V. Bob of New York City, one of the most extensive mine owners in the United States.

Preliminary work has been started on the production on a scale never before attempted in the history of the property.

Robert Long of San Francisco has sold the Big Blue with an option to purchase the mine outright.

The transaction was consummated after eighteen months of exhaustive study of the property by a group of the most prominent mining engineers in the world, associated with the New York operator, including W. C. Browning and W. A. Andrus, and George L. Lindbergh, a widely-known mining authority.

Mr. Browning will direct the new operations in the mine, it was stated.

The drain tunnel is being driven by Louis Dickson, near Cerbat. The claim, near the mouth of Cerbat Canyon, has been owned by Dickson for thirty years. The tunnel, several hundred feet in length, is being driven to a height of more than 3000 feet above the surface.

When the shaft was started a year ago, an announcement was made that it was to be 1000 feet deep, as well as to explore virgin territory.

No drifting is to be started on the new ore till after the shaft is completed, the shaft left as a very material addition to the mine reserves, already of large extent.

The lease agreement and other legal documents will be signed as soon as the shaft is completed, it was reported.

Representatives of Mr. Bob visited the property during the week and inspected the workings.

That portion of the Big Blue mine will prove invaluable in accelerating commercial activity in the Kernville district, and will have a great effect on the economy of the area.

Plans call for a mill to be built on the property, and the plant will be equipped with a double-stage concentrator.

Welterweight Champion Joe Dundee Guarded After Death Threats by Blackmailers

MANAGER SAYS LIFE IMPERILED

Demand for $10,000 Laid to Band of Crooks

Police Protect Boxer After Appeal to Them

Warnings Given by Phone and in Writing

Death threats and blackmailing demands for a large sum of money directed at Joe Dundee, welter-weight champion of the world, yesterday caused local police to place both Dundee and his manager, Fred Waxman, under heavy guard. That Waxman has received many letters and numerous mysterious telephone calls threatening the fighter's life was disclosed by Chief of Detectives Cline, who declared that Waxman appealed for police protection for Dundee immediately following the receipt of a letter through the mails Friday demanding that Dundee deliver $10,000 at a certain location on North Broadway with death as the alternative.

The letter, crudely printed in ink, and signed with four smudged fingerprints, directed the fighter to meet the writer at 11 a.m. yesterday. Waxman, with the aid of Detective Lieutenant Torres and Basar directing the investigation, kept the appointment according to plan, but the blackmailer failed to appear.

QUARTERS CHANGED

The letter addressed to Dundee was received by Waxman while he and the champion were residing at the Alexandria, according to Cline. Since then Waxman twice has changed the living quarters of Dundee in an effort to keep the fighter's whereabouts unknown to the persons conducting the blackmailing scheme, Cline stated. At the present time Dundee is residing at one hotel, while his manager is at another, and the champion's new chief, Detective Lieutenant Torres and Basar have been assigned by Chief Cline to head a guard for boxer and fighter and his manager, day and night.

Whether the intention of the authors of the threatening letters and telephone calls is to obtain money from the champion or to force him to scare into the Dundee camp so that the champion will be in poor condition for his title bout with Ace Hudkins Saturday, has not yet been determined, according to Cline. Cline, however, declared that he is inclined to believe that the latter is the motive. This theory is somewhat complicated, however, by the fact that Dundee, or that he believes that the same enemies who shot and stabbed him while he was managing the training of Dundee previous to the fight with

NEW INSTRUMENT PLAYED ON LINER

Woman Masters Vibraphone and Its Weird Music

VISITORS aboard the liner City of Honolulu prior to her departure for the Hawaiian Islands this weekend were introduced to something new in musical instruments when Manilla Le Mori played several selections on the "vibraphone," a new and highly effective musical device of which she is the only woman player.

The vibraphone resembles a xylophone to a certain extent, but differs mainly in that a revolving fan-like device in each tube operates continually as the instrument is played, giving a weird and unusual effect to the music.

PICO VIADUCT READY TO USE

Pacific Electric Cars Will Go Over it in Few Days

Structure 1160 Feet Long Costs Total of $290,000

Dangerous Crossings Ended by Grade Separation

Paul Whiteman is credited with introducing the vibraphone, and Miss Le Mori, who is Mrs. Ray West in private life, is the first woman to master it. She has had splendid success with the instrument and, coupling it with the violin-playing of her husband, has introduced something entirely new in symphonic music.

Mr. and Mrs. West are making the round trip to the Hawaiian Islands on the City of Honolulu to augment the ship's regular orchestra on the present cruise. During the ship's week in the Islands they will introduce the vibraphone ashore at a number of social functions in Honolulu.

Cars of the Sawtelle division of the Pacific Electric Railway will begin operation within the next few days over the new $290,000 viaduct recently built across Lawrence Gray, motion-picture actor, at 2079 North Serrano street, according to Gray's report to the Hollywood division of the police department yesterday.

The building of the viaduct is part of the city's plan for improving Pico street. The widening and seven miles of paving have been completed and the grade separation is due to use for several months. The county contributed $20,000 toward the cost of the grade separation, and the remainder of the expense was divided between the city and the Pacific Electric.

The viaduct and grade separation is a long one, due to the low grade at this point in Pico street, and the railroad tracks run on two streets in addition to Pico street.

Because of the excessive curve across Pico street, it was necessary to use steel girder construction across the street. To the northward construction is made to a reinforced concrete elevated structure 716 feet long, consisting of twenty-two thirty-two and one-half foot spans. The elevated railway wall approach about 150 feet long completes the structure. The total length is 116 feet.

The steel structure across Pico street is supported by piles and the tracks are ballasted on both the concrete and steel portions, reducing the noise of operation to that of surface traffic.

Contracts for the work were awarded by the Pacific Electric Railway as most of the work was on its right of way.

Finalized plans for the grade separation were prepared jointly by the city and the Pacific Electric Railway.

STREET PAVING ASKED

The City Council has received a petition asking for the paving of Main Street, Dundee's hill and that of his brother, Waxman, turned the matter over to Chief Cline. It is expected by Cline that if the street

[The Motion Picture Theatre]

Carthay Circle Theatre

Over a million people a year visit the Carthay Circle Theatre. The Circle is exclusively a "first run" motion picture house noted for the record runs of such great pictures as "The Vagabond," "What Price Glory," "Seventh Heaven," and their lavish productions. Its huge, white tower, visible for miles in all directions, is a landmark of the community. Brilliantly Neon-lighted at night, it serves as a house for aviators.

The Theatre itself is in typically early California style of Spanish design, and embodies many unusual features of theatre construction. A circular auditorium affords splendid sight lines and gives a feeling of intimacy not found in many other large theatres.

Thirty-two hundred electric light combinations of color effects are incorporated in the design of the great Spanish wood ceiling surrounding the auditorium.

An unusual feature of the Circle is its location, eight miles from the heart of the city, in the center of an exclusive residential section, and yet of easy and quick access to all parts of the community.

Well towards a million dollars was spent in building the Carthay Circle Theatre. It seats about 2000, and is thoroughly up-to-date in every particular and fireproof in construction.

The absolute dependence of the modern motion picture theatre on electricity is shown by the electrical equipment used by Carthay Circle Theatre.

12,000 Electric Lamps in use.

Electricity for Projection—most vital, as constant service is required.

Two motors for Picture Machine Generators.

Two motors for Automatic Dimmers used for unique lighting effects.

Motors for Arc Strikers, Automatic Rewinds.

Motors for Roof Signs and Searchlights.

Neon Tower and building Flood Lights.

Motors for large Elevator for raising and lowering Orchestra Pit.

Radio Broadcast.

Motor for Sewage Pump.

Organ effects, Traps, Battle effects and Aeroplane effects.

Motors for Washing and Drying Air.

Blower motors for Furnaces.

Nineteen motors in all for Ventilating.

Dozens of small motors for Stage Effects.

It is a source of great satisfaction to us to have this approval of our electric service expressed by the Carthay Circle Theatre in a recent letter.

"In fair weather and foul, under every and all conditions, Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation has given SERVICE PLUS. Not for an instant during the period that this theatre has been in operation has it been without service."

SERVES IN COURTS
OF THREE DECADES

George O. Monroe
VETERAN OF

REVOLUTION

Monrovia Founder's Son
Watches Growth of Legal Business of County

Oldest Superior Court clerk, in point of service in Los Angeles county, George C. Monroe, who has watched county court business grow until the six departments which existed when he started have jumped to approximately fifty departments this year will complete thirty-three years of service.

Legal business in the county, ac cording to Mr. Monroe, has had a marked increase in the last thirty three years he has been identified with it and he declares that im proved methods and efficiency have kept pace with the increasing business, including a shortening of time in handling cases, to the ex tent of County Clerk J. E. Lamp ton, the county's legal officer, ap proval of the Superior Court judges.

Mr. Monroe, who is the only living son of Maj. W. N. Monroe, founder of the city of Monrovia, was born in Omaha, Neb., and accompanied his father to Nome, Alaska, where the latter was a railroad con struction engineer and contractor.
For several years Monroe was in jured in an explosion of dynamite and sought a clerical job with the county. He liked the court work so well he decided to stay.

When Mr. Monroe took his first job as court clerk, on January 11, 1885, County Clerk T. E. Newland, father of State Senator Newland, was in the office. Mr. Monroe became clerk in the department of former Superior Judge J. W. Mc Kinley, since deceased, and later in the department of former Superior Judges M. T. Allen and M. C. Con roy, successively, now on the Appel late bench.

Mr. Monroe was clerk of the late Superior Judge Walter S. Bordwell's court, where the McNamee case in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times, were tried in 1910. That was a colorful case in its career and he spoke highly of Judge Bordwell, who was known as the "lion of the bench," because of his resiliency in admitting evi dence. He said that the threats were made against the life of Judge
Bordwell at the time of the trials.

Mr. Monroe, reluctantly, "and

TRANQUIL WAYS
San Diego boasts that 93 per cent of the motor cars stolen there during the last year have been recovered. Even the car thieves down there seem a little slow.SCRAMBLED
The "Check-Your-Babies-at-the-Door" movement which is being agitated now will probably result in future controversies over ownership.DRESSLESS
New full dresses are described as hemless, hipless, sleeveless and neckless. With any less dress one word might serve the purpose.THE PEAK LOAD
The man with the massive microscope says that a single fly can carry 1,200,000 germs. Doubtless a married one could carry still more.TAKING STEPS
The man with a goatee says that a great many steps leading to the divorce court are taken on the dance floor. He might also mention that many preliminary steps to the marriage altar are taken the same way.NOTHING NEW Egyptian women bobbed their hair 8000 years ago. It is also declared that the women of Albania have been regularly shearing their locks for more than 2000 years—although none of them will admit to being that old.SERIOUS DRAWBACK
At least one motion-picture actress is taking her divorce seriously. She says she cannot become engaged while awaiting a final decree. An interlocutory has not always been considered such an insurmountable barrier.THE ROVING EYE
A traffic officer unwittingly gave a big boost to California when he told the judge, a few days ago, that many accidents are the result of young male drivers not being able to keep their eyes on the road because of the beauty of the girls and the scenery!THE GLIDERS
This business of the Germans using gliders as trailers for their airships sounds lovely. They talk of running them in trains, but the service is not likely to be popular for some months. The next generation will have to be born with parachutes on their shoulder blades.THE SPECIAL CLOCKS
Most of our local taxpayers will make no objection to the proposed expenditure by the Board of Public Works of $1000 for special clocks for the new City Hall if the purchase is confined to time-clocks to be punched by city officials and employees.NOT SUPRESSED
Norwegian citizens of a Georgia town horsewhipped the local editor and announced that hereafter they would tell him what to print. But the leaders in the assault are now serving three and five-year terms in the penitentiary and the journalist is printing what he damn well pleases.THEIR OPPORTUNITY
A dispatch from Steubenville, O., says that the tipples at the Bradley mine near that town was blown up with a loss of $30,000. The columnists will not fail to seize upon this piece of information to air their knowledge of how back-sheen tipples often blow up with more or less disastrous results.MEN WANTED
The warden of the Ontario penitentiary reports that he must have twenty more men in the department which turns out the government mail bags. Visitors to the dominion better respect the speed and other laws else the courts will quickly have them in striped clothes for service. The jails and prisons here never have to advertise for men.PRISON COMFORTS
America's first and only Federal prison for women is rapidly approaching completion at Alderson, W. Va. It is to cost $2,500,000 and will be a model of its kind. The windows are without bars and there is no wall about the place. Sixty percent of the inmates already there are violators of the Federal narcotics laws. They walk to and from the buildings unescorted. Seventeen fireproof cottages, each to contain thirty women, will range around the main building. They will have polished floors, pretty rugs, and each inmate will have a dresser and mirror as well as a kimono and bedroom slippers. There will also be plenty of books and many pictures. It is to be hoped that there will be nothing omitted to bring tears to the eyes of the sob sisters.DEMOCRATIC DILEMMA
According to point of view, party fealty, personal interest and political preference, the perplexities and anxieties of the Democratic party and its leadership appear either extremely lamentable or moderately laughable.

More and more it appears that the events in Madison Square Garden in 1924 represented not so much a temporary disagreement as to men and measures as it gave evidence of internal discord that cannot easily be overcome, compromised or ignored.

Public comments by various prominent Democrats emphasize the breach in party councils. Concert of action has been made impossible by divergence of view and disagreement on principles and policies. As many party leaders loudly proclaim the elimination of prohibition as an issue in Democratic deliberations, the demands of wet and dry for a commitment on one side or the other continue to fill Democratic causes with clamorous confusion.

One group, professing, or hoping, to speak for a reasonably united party, is seeking to restore tranquility by denying the existence of troubled conditions; another faction threatens insurgency if its political tenets are not approved, and a third band of ardent partisans will agree to co-operate only upon its own terms and conditions.

Neither success at the polls nor public confidence can be built upon such insecure foundations.

It would be eminently safe to conclude, of course, that any political organization having within its ranks such antipathetic characters as the fiery and discontented Reed of Missouri, the astutely moist Smith of New York and the aggressively dry McAdoo of California, would be torn by internal disorders difficult of solution.

But heretofore, in large measure, Democratic disarray and dissension have disappeared under the common need for presenting a solidly hostile front to the Republican foe. Now it seems, despite the immediate prospect of a Presidential campaign, the family row among the Democrats has assumed such proportions as to require further public airing regardless of hard words, hurt feelings or final consequences.

Messrs. Reed, McAdoo and Smith, and a legion of lesser figures are a unit in viewing with alarm and reprehension the usual stock list of Republican iniquities, but this understandable unanimity on a traditional policy, affecting the mere existence of an opposing major party, is actually less poignant than their mutual distrust of each other.

It is true that Mr. Reed in his recent effort in Missouri waxed hysterically virulent in referring to the shortcomings he ascribed to the Coolidge administration and the Republican party, but aside from the puerilities of the Missouri Senator's remarks, his complaints, charges and assertions could be lifted in all essentials from like utterances made by any Democratic spokesman concerning any Republican administration from Lincoln to Coolidge.

Loud talk does not make a sound argument; heated denunciation does not prove a case; extravagant promises do not furnish a cloak for personal ambitions. The Republican administration has little to fear from such trite and inspired attacks as that of Mr. Reed—and Democracy has little to hope for if the noblest efforts of its leadership are confined to silly and untrue diatribes against the party in power.

Apparently with far more perturbation than the general rank and file of Republicans, elements within the Democratic party look upon the candidacy of Gov. Smith with alarm and repugnance. Although less offensive to this contingent, the candidacy of Mr. Reed is unacceptable. Mr. McAdoo's withdrawal as an active candidate has not resulted in any diminution of his plans for remaining a factor in party affairs—and yet it is obvious that any candidate inheriting the McAdoo mantle will have the open hostility of the Smith adherents.

Rarely have California producers suffered from the effects of overproduction, either of manufacturers or farm products. Even our vineyardists, who, it was feared, had rather overdone the grape-growing business in the last few seasons, have managed for the most part nobly to face the spectre of surplus and put it down. Our oil producers, by working far afield and searching out new and profitable markets, also have managed very well. Then, too, the manner in which our enormous citrus crops have been handled by efficient organization and economic distribution shows that Californians have a perfect genius for the meeting of the problems of mass production and successful marketing.

As for the United States as a whole we have seen some of the pessimistic predictions of economists as to what was going to happen to certain large industries wholly refuted by succeeding chains of events. For example, ten years ago some of these economists, along with a few large manufacturers themselves, were assuring us that the saturation point for automobiles had about been reached. There were then only 8,000,000 motor cars in this country, while today there are 20,000,000, and so confident was Henry Ford that the saturation point will not be reached for years to come that he is perfecting plans for the manufacture of more millions of cars. At the same time other large automobile manufacturers are going ahead with mass production in a way that shows they are not in the least frightened by the spectre of overproduction.

In many other lines of industry there is tremendous expansion. Thirty-three percent of our people are now engaged in manufacturing and mining and 17 per cent in trade and transportation—a much larger proportion than is found in Latin America, which is mainly agricultural and doubtful will remain so for many decades. Here then in these lower republics, which of late have made notable advances financially, some of them, including Argentina, having returned to a gold basis, will be our best and most easily exploited foreign markets. We should not let Germany, Britain or other countries wrest them from us, but take advantage of our geographical proximity and their willingness to deal with us. Most of these Latin Americans are already "sold" on our manufactured products, which they know to be of a superior quality. By the application of the same efficient sales system which has distributed California's canned goods, fresh fruits and nuts all over the world our American manufacturers will before long be placed in a position where the spectre of overproduction would cease to haunt them, and our prosperity would be assured for many years to come.

HOPE AT LAST
A thinking machine, with an "automatic mind," has been successfully demonstrated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Let us hope it is hurriedly put on the market, for this is one new invention many a habitual installment buyer really needs.

TO READ OR TO RIDE
The automobile suggests a silent revolution going on among us. The old-fashioned freestyle has abdicated and the car is now king. A family cannot gather with enthusiasm around a steam heater or a hole in the floor filled with hot air.

Conversation is becoming a lost art or is degenerating into back-seat driving. Wheels have supplanted many books and chameleons and pilots are the social lions. Automotive concerns are pushing the publishers into the back streets and the thinker chooses the best five models rather than the five-foot shelf.

The driver is personally conducting the student of today through the ruins of yesterday. Instead of reading about them, the antiquarian goes to see them.

The boys are not aspiring to be poets, but mechanicians. They watch the speedometer and not the iambic meter. This is no brief for the present, nor dying gasp of the past; it is a statement of fact. There is not much hesitancy between reading and riding. The unanimous vote is for riding.

A library was once built in the front part of the house; now a garage is its foundation. A set of volumes hardly competes with a kit of tools as a birthday present. Once a man smuggled home a book through the back door—now he sneaks in with a new wrench. The compartments of his mind are cluttered up with fantastic accessories. Old books are being traded in for new parts.

A child is farmed out to others to learn to read. The father himself teaches his offspring to drive. Bachelors of art are very plentiful; but good drivers are scarce. Car doctors command higher wages than doctors of philosophy.

A LOW FLYER
A Navy aviator gave Washington a thrill the other day by flying along the streets at an altitude less than that of the tops of apartment-houses. He was punished by the loss of twenty numbers in grade, which means that twenty lieutenants who were below him on the list will get promotions before he can. It also shows that there is at least one occupation in which it pays to be a high-flyer.

SAID DOG ACTORS
POORLY SUPPORTED

George Broadhurst holds that the犬演大賽 is a dead-drawn creation ever written has been inspired by "Uncle Tom." It appeared in a Minnesota paper in the early 90's and read similarly.

The Thompson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company appeared at the opera-house last night. The dogs were poorly supported.

It was about 1860 that a philistine resident of Concord, Kan., dying, left a bequest that gave the town possibly the largest and most ornate theater known to a community of 1000 dogs. The donor was George Davis, editor of the Concordia, Kansas, talked so much about the glories of Brown's Opera-house that the late Charles Blakespear, of the English Opera House, pro claimed that the house had special dressing-rooms for the bloodhounds.

Leon Washburn, of Reading, Mass., who originated the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company in 1865, was largely the magnate of the business. After thirty years he retired and bought a theater in Chester, Pa. Selling out in 1895, he died in 1900. He was found "Uncle Tom" calling him a dog.

He was succeeded by his son, who organized the show and took it out again on the Butterfield circuit, in Michigan, and then in the St. Louis area.

He retired to Reading and took it out again on the Legree demand of Uncle Tom in the whipping scene: "Ain't you mine, body and soul?" Tom is supposed to be the dog.

Tom's body belongs to you, but his soul—mash soul—belongs to Leon Washburn.

The story dates before Washburn's retirement, when Entwistle, then in Tom with Dan Shelly's troupe at the Academy of Music, Chicago, in the early 80's, spoke the line of Shelly, and it may not have been original.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

From Paris comes a letter from H. W. Dunning which is in defense of American music "which must not be mistaken" for jazz giving a clipping from a recent publication in "Cococoda." Paris by Serge Kousseritsky of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He complains that "Europeans generally make a confusion between American music and jazz music. For most of them, one is synonymous with the other, which is a mistake."

"Moreover, jazz is decreasing in the United States. Of negro origin, and originally popular with the negroes, the popular classes, but not enjoyed by the upper classes, it has benefited from a passing favor which survives in Europe, and, chiefly in France, much more than in the United States."

M. Kousseritsky asserts that "there is a greater interest in music than the United States, no nation where all classes follow more assiduously the symphony."

"A purely American school of music is developing," he asserts, "born of the French and German schools of music. American music is now assuming an ethereal character quite distinct from that of the two schools from which it evolved." According to M. Kousseritsky, "American music is taking much of its inspiration from the old Indian musical folklores, and it reproduces many tunes and rhythms that date from a period antecedent to the arrival of the first Europeans."

"We are told to expect a new American school of music in the Americas of today disappears; the Americas which was discovered by the conquistadores will be revived by songs which will be the expression of the nationalities and modern orchestral science."

So much for American art music. As for American jazz, another critic says: "It is the Bostonian of the Musical Courier, who was a recent visitor in France, supports a thesis that jazz is not more a menace to classical music than the Strauss waltzes or Souza's marches."

"When Strauss' first wrote his 'Till Eulenspiegel' the alarm was sounded, and like both 'Tristan and Isolde' and 'Tristan and Isolde,' he must know his Gilbert and Sullivan, his DeKoven and his Victor Herbert. He must have known the music of the Strauss and Gustav Leibermann as well as those of Vincent Youmans and George Gershwin."

"He must be sympathetic to the music of Beethoven and Brahms." In other words, he must have a wide taste and large knowledge of all music.

Your radio, however, must have heard of the "Frog of Aristophanes" and "Les Hannamites of Brieux." He must know the comedies of Shaw and the operas of Offenbach, and he must know that W. S. Gilbert wrote a brilliant series of plays as well as the libretto of the Gilbert and Sullivan's music.

"When the alarm was sounded, and the world was shocked, and the world was coming to an end, so did they did with each succeeding form of dance that developed."

"And you will find that most of the persons who think jazz is threatening all music are composers whose work has been unsuccessful," says the critic.

"There are two main arteries of music—entertainment music and art music, and they should not be confused. They must never really encroach on each other. The entertainment music appeals simply to the exterior senses, and to the feet, and the exterior is the latest phase of this class. It will be succeeded by something else."

RADIO DEMANDS PROGRAM CZAR

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Radio is looking for a master mind similar to Landis in baseball and Hayes in the films. It seems as though broadcast wants a superman, according to the current issue of the Metropolitan Magazine in which Gordon Whiteley writes.

Whiteley needs a "showman body." He must be a man of wide knowledge and elastic sympathy. He must sense the beauty of the "Shape of Beauty" and the architecture of the heart. "Mass in B-Minor." He must feel as sympathetic to the cadences of the modern fox-trot as to the ill of Delibes Coppelia.

LARGE ORDER

"He must know the need of grand opera and like both 'I Pagliacci' and 'Tristan and Isolde.' He must know his Gilbert and Sullivan, his DeKoven and his Victor Herbert. He must be a master of music, as well as of literature, as well as of the Strauss waltzes of Souza's marches as well as those of Vincent Youmans and George Gershwin."

"He must be sympathetic to the music of Beethoven and Brahms." In other words, he must have a wide taste and large knowledge of all music.

Your radio, however, must have a thesis that jazz is not more a menace to classical music than the Strauss waltzes of Souza's marches as well as those of Vincent Youmans and George Gershwin."

"They All Want Something" is Negative Proof of His Acting Talent

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

William T. Tilden II may refer to tennis as his recreation, and acting as his profession, but it can be duly proclaimed that his fame still rests on his accomplishments as a star of the net, rather than as a luminary of the stage.

He appeared last night in a piece written by Courtney Sawyer called "They All Want Something," at the Olympic Theater in Hollywood, but it was an amateur affair, his championship honors which Tilden has won in the past on the athletic field.

However, the reception accorded Tilden was most gratifying. His appearance before the footlights drew a large audience, and they were appreciative.

The play was obviously bad, but there was a genial spirit of goodwill for anyone who might have been in the strain of embarrassment resulting from this special test.

Tilden's earnest effort, which for a few moments caused him perhaps more perturbation than any conflict on the court, met with response, and when the action and the dialogue lapsed a little about the middle of the second act, there were quite a few laughs.

Nevertheless, the production "They All Want Something" will never write a part for a bright man in theatrical history here. There was a certain degree of regretfulness about the audience proceeding that could not be repressed.

The impression created by this piece is that it attempts to show what a chauffeur may discover about the secret intrigues of his employers—in this instance a family of the nouveau riche.

Father has a leaning toward gambling, one son has a penchant for girls, and the daughter is on the make.

The mother is a woman who is merely a masquerader, and is taken into the household because mother happens to be interested in hearing the son's story told by traps, and occasionally adopts the traps.

Complications develop when the masquerading chauffeur is introduced as a famous dancer at a fancy dress ball, the family feeding him a story of his remarkable ability to add glamour to this.

The father's gambling associates and the son's "friend" also manage to intrude upon the scene.

It is all pretty draggy and drab as entertainment, and though Maude Trux, Willis Marks, Billy Quinn, Lilian Hackett, George Lamont, and Ruth Chatterton are on hand, the quality of it will add much to the world's store of humor.

Stanley Taylor and Ruth Stewart are others in the cast. There is one interchange of talk that not a great laugh and applause, and that was when Tilden was asked:

"Did you ever play tennis?"

"Yes, I did," he said, and then bits of acting he did during the entire evening was in the serious and penitent way in which he answered this with, "Yes—about a year ago."

Broadway Boasts an Angel

A scene from the motion picture featured at the Hillstreet beginning today. "The Angel of Broadway" was directed by Lois Weber for Cecil B. De Mille.

REGENERATION THEME OF FILM

"The Angel of Broadway" brought Leatrice Joy to the Hillstreet screen yesterday in her second dramatic role since she deserted the field of comedy, and if the reaction of the audience that packed the theater can be taken as a criterion, the new role will parallel in success that of her recently released "Vanity."

Produced under the direction of Lois Weber, the film is a study continually in weaving dramatic situations, the film moved at an interesting and rapid tempo.

Based on the theme of "regeneration," it is based on the subject in a new and decidedly novel way, treating of a cabaret entertainer who hit upon the idea of introducing "Salvation Army" men into her night-club repertoires, and visited the slum mission every night in order to gain atmosphere.

The romance is introduced by the arrival of a large and good-natured truck driver—official "bouncer" of the mission.

In the role of the cabaret entertainer is Leatrice Joy, who is capable of doing much to add to the world's store of humor.

Dean Duchemin Faces Quiz as Petting-Party Bandit

Twenty-eight Burglaries Are Reported in Day

Hollywood Home Plundered of Silver and Gems

A two-year police search for Dean Duchemin, asserted by authorities to have perpetrated more than fifty robberies as well as innumerable burglaries ended yesterday when Duchemin, who is only 20 years of age, was returned to Los Angeles from Salinas and held on a charge of suspicion of robbery.

Duchemin, who gives his local address as 1529 West Eighty-fourth street, has been wanted by the police for more than two years, according to Detective Lieutenant George L. Kline, who arrested him to Los Angeles from Salinas. The prisoner, they say, has been connected with the hold-up in the home of Richard E. Rich at 1029 Tropicana street, Palms, in which Richardson was robbed of gems and money. The hold-up was staged at Ninth street and St. Andrew's Place, according to police records.

RECORD INVESTIGATED

While Duchemin is being held in the county jail, the police are continuing investigation into his asserted activities several months ago as a "petting-party" bandit. They say that they have now solved a number of such crimes all of which were carried out by one or two men operating in stolen automobiles.

In twenty-eight burglaries reported yesterday, the robbery of the home of Paul de Cardo, 2130 North Vine street, stands out because of the plunder. Entrance was forced through a hole in the bottom of a second-story window and the place ransacked, the thief or thieves taking diamond bracelets and other gems having value of $10,000. The family was absent at the time of the robbery.

Gordon Sullivan, 20, and Jack Edwards, 22, who arrived in Los Angeles Saturday night from Gainsville, N. M., were halted almost as soon as they had launched forth on a career of crime, according to police. In two incidents, by Detective Richie and Klink shortly after they are asserted to have held up an oil station at Vermont avenue and West Adams where I. C. Howard, attendant, is said to have used a gold-plated revolver similar to one found in their possession and identified by Howard.

The same day, he was arrested by Captain Parker, 202 W. 2nd Street, and Joe Marriott, 27, 228 South Westlake, in connection with the same group of robbers. All are booked on charges of robbery.

Macache admitted he had taken other furnishings found in the house had been stolen by him from homes near the university. He gave his address as 1795 W. Thirty-seventh street.

MINDS BLIND TO WORDS HELPED

Teachers Find Remedy for Mental Short Circuits

Children Taught to Trace Letters With Fingers

Pair Preparing Book Based on Long Research

Mental short circuits, causing virtual "word blindness" in many children making it impossible for them to grasp the meaning of a written word through sight and causing them to be classified as mentally deficient, have been cured through the science of science and helped by stimulating the sight-bound mind through another medium—the finger tips.

Announcement of this startling discovery was made yesterday by Dr. Grace Fernald, associate professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles, and Dr. Helen Keller, who, along with others, are preparing work on the subject, are preparing a book relating their experiences.

BOY'S INTELLIGENCE HIGH

The experiments were started when it was discovered that certain boys, although apparently unable to learn the meaning of a written word, had an intelligence quotient of 137. This fact convinced the investigators that they were not really dumb, but that for some reason was unable to grasp the meaning of words through sight.

Dr. Fernald and Dr. Keller then tried scores of experiments in search of some other means of gaining access to the boy's mind. At last they decided to turn him to the science of the letters and the word with his finger on the blackboard. To their surprise the boy began to learn immediately and soon was able to sit down and write the words he had traced.

After five months of this form of instruction, the youth overcame his handicap and learned the tracing method of education and was able to take up his studies in a normal manner.

With this satisfactory example as evidence of a new quirk in the human mind, the two educators sought other cases. Children were sent to them from everywhere and in virtual absence of word-blindness responded to the tracing method of instruction.

Repeated experiments revealed that almost without exception the children were able to learn the tracing method of education.

Another outstanding example of the strange mental complex was cited in the case of a boy who was found to be blind and impossible to advance beyond the second grade in school. It was impossible, they said, to teach him anything which involved the use of printed words or figures.

FINISHES WITH HONORS

Within a short time the boy was taught to read by the tracing method. He returned to the second grade in school and six months later had advanced to the eighth grade from which he was graduated with honors.

Hundreds of other cases just as remarkable as this have been found, according to Dr. Fernald.

Another instance of how two brothers from the same family were able to learn the tracing method of instruction was cited in the case of two boys who were blind and unable to learn by any other method.

Both boys, however, were able to obtain their property, persuaded her that she ought to be divorced. And that is how it happened that Judge Bowron, who is 70 years of age, seeking dissolution of his marriage contracted in 1870.

"It's a mighty long time since I was married," he said. "I have no son or daughter. I have two daughters, one of whom is 60 years old. I have a son, 30, who is a traveling man. I ran a rooming-house. He spent my money on himself and I paid all the bills."

But eventually friends and relatives by pointing out to her that she was unable to support herself obtained the divorce, and she just could not make up her mind to it.

But eventually friends and relatives by pointing out to her that she was unable to support herself obtained the divorce, and she just could not make up her mind to it.

"Now, listen here, judge," the plaintiff spoke up. "Don't get the idea that I'm trying to get away from my wife. I just don't want him to inherit my property."

Judge Bowron is not so sure that he minds getting a divorce as he has been delaying in making up his mind to get a divorce has not been helped by the little old man he took the case under subject.

He was a traveling man. I ran a rooming-house. He spent my money on himself and I paid all the bills.

He kept on living in my house as a roomer, though, for the next five years. I've not seen him since 1900. He's out in the Soldiers' Home at Sausalito now.

"What does she want a divorce for, anyway?" Judge Bowron asked.

"She wants a divorce," he said. "She's been married to me for 30 years. I paid all the bills."

At any rate, a letter written by the famous leader some sixty-two years ago is causing a stir. It is a letter from Mrs. Dentzel, who was among wealthy residents of Beverly Hills which up to date has caused a physical change, causing Mrs. Chase's right man to be sprained.

She asserts that Mrs. Dentzel, when called up and demanded that she return $17.50 that her boy had already paid on the purchase price of the letter, and when this was refused, called Mr. Chase a scoundrel and attacked her physically, causing Mrs. Chase's right man to be sprained.

WARRANTS SWORN OUT

The next move came when Mr. Chase swore out a warrant before Commissioner of Probate Mrs. Dentzel, who is 70 years old, was arrested on October 13, 1933, wrote a letter to Countess Eugenia Bertinatti, then in Georgetown, D. C.

Mr. Dentzel promptly got a counter-warrant charging Mrs. Chase with assault and battery.

Chase promptly wanted a counter-warrant, but in his opinion, partly of his own fault, he was not yet ready to meet the charge.

Chase asserted that young Dentzel prevailed upon her to let him take the letter out and return it in a soiled condition.

Chase, however, was not ready to meet the charge.

He was a traveling man.

He was a rooming-house.

He was a room
